REPUBLIC OF TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO

THE LEGAL PROFESSION ACT, 1986

RULES

IN EXERCISE OF THE POWERS CONFERRED ON THE COUNCIL OF THE LAW ASSOCIATION BY SECTION 33 OF THE LEGAL PROFESSION ACT, 1986 AND OF EVERY OTHER POWER HEREUNTO ENABLING THE FOLLOWING RULES ARE HEREBY MADE: —

THE LEGAL PROFESSION (ACCOUNTS) RULES, 2006

1. These Rules may be cited as the Legal Profession (Accounts) Rules, 2006 and shall be read and construed as one with the Legal Profession Act, 1986 hereinafter referred to as the principal Act and shall come into force on 15 January 2006.

2. (1) In these Rules: —

"Accounts", "books", "ledgers" and "records" shall be deemed to include loose-leaf books and such cards or other permanent documents or records as are necessary for the operation of any system of book-keeping, computerized, mechanical or otherwise and where a computerized system is operated, the information recorded on it must be capable of being reproduced in hard printed form within a reasonable time;

"attorney" has the meaning assigned to it by section 2 of the Principal Act and includes a firm of attorneys;

"bank" means any company licensed under the Banking Act to carry on banking business

"client" includes any person from whom or on whose behalf an attorney in connection with his practice receives money or other property;

"clients' account" has the meaning assigned thereto by Rule 3;

"clients' money" means money received by an attorney that belongs in whole or in part to a client or that is held on a client's behalf or to his or another's direction or order, and "money in trust" or "funds in trust" has the same meaning.

"Council" has the meaning assigned to it by section 2 of the principal Act;

"financial year", in relation to an attorney, means the period of twelve months used by him as his financial year, but, where an attorney recognizes no period or a different period as his financial year, then calendar year;

"general retainer" means an amount paid by a client to an attorney undertaking for a specified or unspecified period to act as that client's attorney in unidentified legal matters;

"money" includes current coin, government or bank notes, cheques, drafts, post office orders or bank money orders and funds transferred by electronic or other means, but, in relation to any requirement of any rule, does not include money held subject to any special condition as to its disposition, being a condition inconsistent with that requirement;

"special retainer" means an amount paid by a client to an attorney in consideration of the attorney undertaking to act as that client's attorney, if engaged as such in an identified legal matter but does not include any amount paid as an advance of fees for work to be done;

- (2) In these Rules: —

- (a) any reference to a book, record, file, account or other document includes a reference to any device by means of which information is recorded or stored;

- (b) in relation to information recorded or stored by means of a device, any reference to production of a book, record, file, account or other document shall be construed as a reference to making the information available.

Duty to keep Clients' Trust Account

- (1) Every attorney who receives clients' money (except money hereinafter in these rules exempted from the operation of this rule) shall forthwith pay the money into an interest bearing account at a bank, if practicable, to be designated as a client's account and to be kept in the attorney's name or the joint names of the attorney and the client; and such an account is in these Rules, referred to as a clients' account or trust account:
- (2) An attorney may keep one or more clients' accounts as he or she thinks fit.

Clients' Trust Accounts

- (1) There shall be paid into a clients' account only:-
- (a) trust money;
- (b) money paid to an attorney representing in part money belonging to him or her and in part trust money belonging to a client, where it is not practicable to split the payment, but money belonging to the attorney shall be drawn from the clients' account without delay; or
- (c) such money belonging to the attorney as may be necessary for the purpose of opening or maintaining the account.
- (2) There need not be paid into a clients' account money:-
- (a) that a client in writing requests the attorney to withhold from the client's account or to deposit elsewhere; or
- (b) that an attorney pays into a separate account opened or to be opened in the name of a client or some person named by that client or the duly authorized agent of that client; or
- (c) that in the ordinary course of business upon its receipt is paid forthwith in the form in which it is received to or on behalf of the client; or
- (d) interest earned on a general clients' account which is not an account which is maintained for a designated client.

but the handling of such money shall be shown in the attorney's books and records.

- (3) There shall not be paid into a clients' account any money:-
- (a) that belongs entirely to the attorney or to his or her firm or any other member thereof in his or her or their professional capacity including any amount received as a special or general retainer or otherwise in respect of which there is no duty either to account or to tender services; or
- (b) that is received by way of repayment of disbursements or expenses made or incurred on behalf of a client.

Provided that: —

- (i) where an attorney holds or receives money which includes client's money or trust money of one or more trusts: —
- (a) the attorney may where practicable split such money and, if he or she does so he or she shall deal with each part thereof as if he or she had received a separate sum of money in respect of that part; or
- (b) if the attorney does not split the money he or she shall, if any part thereof consists of clients' money, and may, in any other case, pay the money into a clients' account.

- (4) Money in a clients' account to which the attorney becomes entitled shall be drawn from the account as soon as may be thereafter in accordance with paragraph (5) (i).
- (5) (i) There shall not be drawn from a clients' account money other than: -
- (a) money properly required for payment to or on behalf of a client;
 - (b) money required to reimburse the attorney for money or expenses reasonably expended or incurred on behalf of a client or with his written consent;
 - (c) money that is directly transferred into another clients' account and held on behalf of a client;
 - (d) money that may by inadvertence have been paid into the clients' account in contravention of this regulation;
 - (e) money belonging to the attorney which was paid into the clients' account for the purpose of opening or maintaining it.
 - (f) any other monies including fees as may be agreed in writing between the client and the attorney.
- (ii) There shall not be drawn or paid from a clients' account to or on behalf of a client any sum that exceeds the money held in trust for that client in that account.
- (6) Money permitted to be drawn from a clients' account under paragraph (5) (i) (b) or (f) shall not be drawn except:-
- (a) by means of a cheque drawn in favour of the attorney; or
 - (b) by means of a transfer to a bank account that is in the name of the attorney and is not a client's account.
- (7) A cheque drawn on a clients' account
- (a) shall not be made payable either to cash or bearer except in exchange for a signed receipt (sufficiently identifying the recipient) for the payment; and
 - (b) shall not be issued unless it is signed by at least one attorney who holds a current practising certificate.
- (8) At all times an attorney shall maintain sufficient balances in his or her clients' account or accounts to meet all his or her obligations with respect to moneys held in trust for claims.
- (9) For the purposes of paragraphs (5) cash or a bank draft negotiable by the attorney being respectively cash or a bank draft in the possession and control of the attorney, shall be deemed to be money held in a clients' account if deposited in the clients' account not later than the banking day next but one following the day the cash or bank draft was received.

Certain Trust Account Records

5. Every attorney shall, at least once every four months in respect of each calendar month:-
- (i) compare the total of the balances shown by the clients' trust ledger accounts of the liabilities to the clients, including those for whom trust money is held in the trust account, with the cash account balance; and
 - (ii) prepare a reconciliation statement showing the cause of the difference, if any, shown by the above comparison; and

- (iii) reconcile that cash account balance with the balances shown on trust account bank pass book or statements and money held elsewhere; and shall preserve the records of all such reconciliations.

Posting and Reservation of Records

6. (1) Any book, record, file, account or other document required to be kept for the purpose of compliance with any of these Rules:-
- (a) shall be entered and posted currently at all times;
- (b) shall be entered and posted in ink, by machine or by electronic or other device:
- (2) Every attorney shall preserve for not less than six years after the date of the last entry therein all such accounts records, passbooks and bank statements as are required to be kept for the purpose of compliance with any of these Rules.
- (3) Every attorney shall preserve for at least six years all paid cheques drawn on his or her clients' accounts unless he or she has arranged in writing with the relevant bank that it will retain such paid cheques for such period.
7. Subject to Rule 8 of these Rules, an attorney who holds money for or on account for a client shall account to the client for interest or an equivalent sum where such money is held in an interest bearing client's account the attorney shall account to the client for the interest earned on that money:
8. Nothing in these Rules shall:—
- (1) affect any arrangement in writing, whenever made between an attorney and his client as to the application of the client's money or interest thereon:
- (2) apply to money received by an attorney in his or her capacity as trustee rather than as attorney, on account of the trustees of any other trust of which the attorney is a trustee;
9. (1) The Council may at any time examine or cause an investigation to be made of the books, records, files, accounts and other documents relating to the clients' accounts of any attorney for the purpose of ascertaining and reporting whether the relevant provisions of these Rules have been complied with by such attorney.
- (2) Any attorney in relation to whom the Council has caused an examination to be made under sub-Rule paragraph (1) shall produce or cause to be produced to the Council or any person designated by the Council under that paragraph the said books, records, files, accounts and other documents and any evidence, vouchers or other papers relevant to the examination that are lawfully required of him by the Council or that person, and shall furnish or cause to be furnished to the Council or that person any such explanations as the Council or that person may reasonably require for the purposes of the examination.
- (3) The Council or the person designated by the Council pursuant to this Rule shall preserve and aid in preserving secrecy with regard to all matters relating to the affairs of the attorney or of any client if the attorney that may come to his or her knowledge in the course of the examination and shall not communicate any such matter other than to the Council or the attorney concerned in the matter.

Savings

10. Excepting for Rules 1, 2, 3 and 4, which shall come into operation on the publication of these Rules, nothing in these Rules shall apply to any clients' money received by an attorney before the first day of March 2006, or to any book, record or account relating to any such money.

Made by Order of the Council this 10th day of January 2006.
